

The National Learning Network has been providing quality vocational training and employment opportunities for people with additional support needs for over 50 years. We provide training programmes which are nationally recognized, accredited and assist our students to gain employment.

Mainstream Qualifications Plus

Personal Centred Approach

Courses are tailored to the needs of the individual by means of assessment and discussion which leads to a Personal Training Plan.

Personal Development

In order to provide training which is of maximum benefit to the individual and also help to obtain employment we concentrate on areas such as assertiveness, confidence building and independent living skills, as required by the student.

Vocational Development

Courses include job specific modules plus job seeking skills and work experience.

Eligibility

For people over 16 years or older. Applicants must be registered with FÁS and in receipt of a Social Welfare payment.

National Learning Network is Ireland's largest non-Government training organisation with more than 50 purpose built training and employment units nationwide catering for over 4,500 students each year.

Its objective is to assist people at a disadvantage in the labour market to learn the skills they need to build lasting careers in jobs that reflect their interests and abilities.

This is achieved through a brand of training, education, employment access and enterprise development that is respected and often replicated across Europe.

The majority of National Learning Network's student body is made up of people with disabilities, although other groups and individuals facing obstacles in the search for work are increasingly using its services.

The organisation sets itself apart from other training bodies by addressing all of the factors that will affect a student's prospects of obtaining and retaining a job in their chosen field.

It has developed a unique system of training delivery which enables students to reach their potential in a manner which takes account of personal, social and environmental requirements.

No fees apply to any National Learning Network courses. There are also no formal entry requirements, although students must be over the age of sixteen.
